Accounting & Accountability: Changes and Challenges in Corporate Social and Environmental Reporting

Full text not currently available from Enlighten.

Abstract

Aimed at advanced level undergraduate and postgraduate courses in financial reporting, accounting theory or accounting ethics, this cutting-edge text focuses on the role and critical evaluation of corporate social and environmental reporting in meeting the demands for greater systems perspective, and links to reporting practice through the study and analysis of its historical emergence and patterns, as well as recent international developments and initiatives in the field.